

We're having a party for Little Bear,
but don't you tell him, oh, don't you dare!

I have a bunch of red, red roses that bears love to smell with their little pink noses.

We've got balloons of pink, green, and blue,
but don't let them go whatever you do!

We've got some presents, but better beware.
He'll tear the paper, that Little Bear!

I've got a strawberry cake we can eat.
Isn't anyone ready for a very sweet treat?

"I'm always ready," said Little Bear,
"and there's enough for all to share."