The Perfect Picnic

Picnics are a great way to spend time with family and friends. What do you remember when you think about picnics that you have taken? An invasion of ants? Being rained out? Burned burgers or sand in your salad? Or did someone forget to pack the plates and silverware? Hopefully, none of these things have happened to you before!

Where do you like to go for the perfect picnic? Some people like to go to the park. There are usually tables, bathrooms and places to walk or ride bikes. You can even roller skate around the park a time or two before you eat! Trash cans are usually a short walk away from your picnic blanket!

Some people would rather take a picnic to the beach. However, some people don't always like to eat sand in their salads or on their hotdogs! Have you had that happen to you before? Yuck!

Where do I like to have a picnic? I like to fix a tray for two or more and sit on the floor in the den. On rainy days, we watch a video while we eat. No bugs, ants, or other pests to ruin that picnic! My other favorite place for a picnic is in our camper when we go fishing at the lake. We have a perfect picnic before we go back out to catch a trout or two!

You can have a perfect picnic anywhere that you choose: in a tree house, in a tent, on a boat, or in your own backyard. All you need is some good food, friends, games to play, and your imagination.
